MAY IS NATIONAL BEEF MONTH

Celebrating National Beef Month during the month of May, we sat down with Jim Moker of Moker Farms to learn about what beef cattle farming is like in Menominee county.

Established in 1972 Moker farms is a cow calf operation specializing in raising breeds such as Registered Angus, Maine – Anjou, Simmental and Club Calves. Besides cattle, Moker's also grow corn and alfalfa. Currently the 250 head beef cattle farm in Carbondale, MI has been in the Moker Family for three generations. We asked Jim what his favorite part of being in the beef cattle industry was, he shared “the people I get to work with and meet. I have made so many friends and connections all over the country. Most of those people I talk with on a daily basis.”

HAPPY MOTHER'S DAY
FROM
STEPHENSON MARKETING COOPERATIVE

For over 70 years, another important part of Moker Farms has been the buying, selling, and hauling of cattle. Jim's grandpa started this part of the business with a car and bumper hitch hauling one cow at a time. Today the cattle hauling aspect of Moker Farms has grown significantly.

Like many farms, there are no two days that are exactly the same. Some of the daily farm tasks include checking the cattle, animal husbandry, and crop management. After the cattle are taken care of for the day it's off to check the boar goats and horses.

Thank you to all the beef farmers who provide our world with beef products!
